1943 Victory Book Campaign Now On

The 1943 Victory Book Campaign has started under the leadership of Mrs. Lucinda F. Spofford, Robbins librarian.

As in the previous campaign the books are to be taken or sent to the library where they will be sorted by the librarians and sent to headquarters. From there they will be distributed to the boys in the Army and Navy.

Of course the campaign committee wishes to get as many books as possible but the emphasis is on quality rather than on quantity. Quality depends both on the condition of the book and on its subject matter. The final test is—

"Any book you really want to keep is a good one to give."

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINTS

How to Keep Warm This Winter

By Dr. James A. Tobey

FUEL for homes is rationed as a necessary war measure. Although our houses, offices, and schools will not be as warm as usual this winter, no one need suffer. It is easy to keep comfortable.

In the past most of us erred on the side of too much dry heat in our homes. Too many people have been accustomed to temperatures of 75 degrees or more, when 68 is ample for the health of normal persons in normal times.

Now we shall have to get along with temperatures of 65 degrees Fahrenheit. This should be no hardship to healthy individuals who dress properly and eat correctly. In households having young children, elderly persons, invalids, and the sick, more heat is permitted.

"Wear a sweater and help win the war," is a good slogan for practical use this winter. Heavier clothing, of which there is no scarcity, should be worn more generally, both indoors and out, particularly by women. The English tell us that properly clothed persons have no trouble in room temperatures as low as 60.

What we eat helps to keep us warm. Food is the fuel of the human machine, producing heat and energy for bodily functions. If we are well-nourished, cold weather affects us less, but the thin, anemic person always has difficulty in keeping warm.

A mild cushion of body fat is likewise good insulation against cold. Being only a trifle overweight is an advantage in winter. This does not mean, of course, that anyone should be grossly fat, which is a disadvantage at any time.

Foods of high caloric, or heat-producing, value are abundant in America. Wheat and bread are plentiful, and there is a liberal supply of milk and dairy products, vegetables, and meats such as lamb, veal, and poultry.

By eating plenty of enriched white bread and butter, whole grain cereals with milk or cream, solid vegetables, and meats, along with such other protective foods as fruits, eggs, and green leafy and yellow vegetables, good nutrition and health are promoted. Such a sensible daily diet helps you cope with the cold.

Reminder Goes Out to Christmas Seal Holders

Facing one of its most crucial years, due to the threatened wartime rise in tuberculosis, and with nearly 50 per cent of the persons to whom Seals were mailed still unheard from, the Arlington Tuberculosis Committee sent reminder cards to these persons, Mrs. Alfred Yood, chairman of the campaign.

"The Seals have undoubtedly been overlooked in the rush of the holidays," Mrs. Yood said. "The reminder cards are in no way a high-pressure attempt to get answers. But we do know from past experience that many persons simply forget they have received the Seals."

"If these 'forgotten' Seals are paid for, the association will be able to continue, along with its other important work, the rehabilitating of tuberculous patients and placement into war industry."

The Newcomer—Soybeans

Prejudice and custom are among the factors that prevent a people from quickly adopting new food-stuffs. That is just human nature, and in the "meaty" past we could afford to indulge this whim. But with meat rationing just around the corner, we have to accustom ourselves to new food ideas rapidly. In many cases the new foods will be by-products, perhaps, of farm products manufactured for other war needs. This year, for instance, farmers have doubled their production of soybeans and peanuts in order to produce the oil needed to replace formerly imported oils. After the oil is pressed out of these soybeans and peanuts, a highly nutritive residue, rich in valuable protein, remains. Mixed in breads and soups, or with cereals or meat products, these protein flours and grits can go a long way toward improving our national level of nutrition.

In view of its richness in nutritive constituents, the extent to which these are assimilated by the body, and the numerous products to be prepared, the soybean deserves high rank as an important food material.

Compared with our common table beans the soybean ranks higher in food value. Richer in protein and fat, the soybean protein can be used to better advantage by the body than that of other beans. Like meat it contains complete proteins which are needed by the body for growth, maintenance and repair. It is also of high caloric value. To quote figures, on the average dry soybeans contain about 1 1/2 times as much protein and 12 times as much fat as other kinds of dry beans.

The carbohydrate content of soybeans is comparatively low since they contain only about 12% available carbohydrate. For this reason soybeans are valuable for persons requiring low starch diets.

Whether fresh or dry, soybeans are to be relied on as good source of the nutritionally important minerals calcium, phosphorus, and iron.

Fresh green soybeans are very rich in vitamin A, especially the varieties that are deepest green in color. They are also a very good source of vitamin B-1 and a good source of vitamin G (riboflavin). Dried soybeans also are good sources of vitamins B-1 and G.

While the dry soybeans themselves contain no vitamin C the sprouts developed from them are an excellent source. Considering food value, this is probably the most important contribution of the sprouts although they are a fair source of calcium.

Soybean flours or meals made from whole soybeans are similar to the dry soybeans in food value. Flours or meals prepared from the soybean press cake left when the oil is extracted are much lower in fat content, however, and higher in protein and carbohydrate.

If we are adaptable to new ideas such as using the soybean, the thought of impending rationing of meat should not cause alarm. By intelligently planning our food purchasing and our menus we shall be able to keep ourselves well fed with the foods available.

Following are a few recipes using soybeans as the "piece de resistance":

Soybean Casserole
2 cups cooked soybeans, chopped
1/4 cup diced salt pork
2 cups chopped celery

says Dorothy Greig

ALL of us doing a hard day's work—whether at home, school, in office, shop or factory—are in actual fact war workers, helping to win. The country needs us strong to handle the job. And to be strong, say the Powers-that-be, follow the proper diet.

That means simply—eat a variety of foods. What a blissful way to health!

For instance, every day for everyone: Milk—tomato juice, a big glassful, or orange juice—vegetables, green and yellow, some served raw in salads, some cooked—potatoes—a helping of meat, fish or poultry—whole grain cereals and bread—butter or enriched margarine—and at least 3 or 4 eggs a week.

Spread these foods over the three meals a day and watch the family bloom . . . pink cheeks, shiny hair, firm muscles, lots of bounce. And fewer colds, illness, bad temper, stomach aches and tiredness—which happy state of affairs makes life more pleasant for Ma.

Here's a plan for one dinner that's well balanced and generous with the elements we need.

Lt. Ramsey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Ramsey of 356 Gray street. He is a native of Arlington and was educated in the public schools, graduating from high school in 1932.

After graduation, he spent several years with W. G. Tenney, Inc., 783 Massachusetts avenue, in charge of stock, records and purchasing of supplies. Following this, a year and a half was spent as purchasing and stock control operator of the Providence, R. I., branch of the General Electric Supply Corporation. In February 1940 he became assistant to the purchasing director of the Sherman Paper Products Corporation of Newton Free Falls. He served in this capacity for one year and was then transferred to the corrugated display division as office and production manager. After five months he was returned to the purchasing department as director, where he remained until his induction into the army on June 29, 1942.

He was sent from the Reception Center of Fort Devens to basic training at Camp Lee, Virginia, where he attended the Automotive Parts Specialist School. Following the completion of this training, he was accepted for Officer Candidate School at Camp Lee.

On August 30, 1940, he was married to Miss Mildred Lawson, of Newton.

Fund campaign to get under way.

Since I can't take an active part in the drive this year I did want to send my best wishes to you and the whole crowd who participate in the important part of the home front. The Army takes good care of us while we are on duty but the U.S.O. is a big help when you go to town. More important than that I think is the work done by local agencies in helping those less able to help themselves at home. I have had some opportunity to watch the lads I live with here and it is easy to see when they are worrying about sickness or other troubles at home. I should say that one of the biggest boosts to Army morale is the knowledge that those at home are well taken care of.

I have no doubts that you will whack the ole devil quota with no more than the usual amount of hair pulling and sleepless nights. Best wishes for a successful campaign.

Called Bonne Bell, they're cool as can be—becoming as silk! At the Stork Club, Oona shows her "Victory Stockings" off to advantage while she chats about her current appearance in summer stock. It's rumored that New York's belle may be headed for Hollywood soon.

BRADSHAW-FRIENDLY

The Bradshaw-Friendly Union will hold an all day sewing meeting next Monday in the vestry of the Orthodox church with the Allied War Relief Committee. The meeting is from ten to four with luncheon at noon. The executive board will meet before the regular meeting.

ADELPHIANS

Miss Angela Taylor, chairman of Greater Boston Committee of American Youth Hostellers, and four other hostellers are going to tell about a three weeks' trip in the Great Smoky Mountains in North Carolina at this Sunday's meeting of the Adelpheans.

PIERCE SCHOOL P. T. A.

Because of the fuel situation, it was necessary to cancel the January 21st Fathers' Night originally planned by Harold O'Brien. A combination business meeting, Mrs. Maurice King presiding, and afternoon of games was held instead.

Mrs. Timothy Coleman, former hospitality chairman, came from Milton to tell fortunes as Madame Dimwit.

Mrs. Maurice Cameron, formerly secretary and program chairman, arranged the games, assisted by Mrs. Harold O'Brien, Mrs. Bertil Stenmark, Mrs. Westcott Atwood, Mrs. Michael McDewitt, and Mrs. Louis Knapp.

The Choral Group, under the direction of Mrs. Albert Englund, sang with its usual verve.

Everyone felt it was worth the courage it took to venture out on such a cold day.

Heights Improvement Association Election

At the annual meeting of the Arlington Heights Improvement Association the following directors were elected: Gerard J. Marquis, 271 Hillside avenue; Charles E. Davis, 181 Waverly street; Roderick D. Bates, 200 Cedar avenue; Earle E. Baker, 313 Park avenue; Theodore E. Lannefeld, 247 Wachusett avenue; Martin R. Durkin, 271 Park avenue; Ira W. Smith, 87 George street, and L. S. Faunce, 70 Rhinecliff street.

Usual policy is to elect four directors each year for three year terms but a new by-law was passed making all past presidents, members ex-officio of the board of directors with full voting powers. Therefore four new directors were added to the Board. The past presidents were George P. Down, 1939; George A. Harris, 1940; Edward H. Hunter, 1941, and Joseph Dente, 1942. The first president, 1937 and 1938, was William P. Shine, since deceased.

The first meeting of the new board was held at the Park Avenue Fire Station, when William F. McClellan of 87 Quincy street was elected president for 1943. His fellow officers, also elected, were Hallet M. Beals, 1st vice-president; Joseph F. Sliney, 2nd vice-president; L. S. Faunce, treasurer, and Ira W. Smith, secretary. Committees will be appointed next month by the president.

Plan Another Publication For Men in the Service

The Arlington Monday Night Club is working on another publication to be sent to the service men of Arlington from the people of Arlington. It will contain cartoons, news of Arlington and messages from Arlington people. It will be along the lines of that sent out at Christmas time by the organization, and will be written and arranged by Bob and Dick Wood, who are giving their services as they did for the previous issue.

The cost of printing, and mailing of such material is great. Any contributions from the townspeople, of $2.00 or over towards this publication, which means so much to the service men, will be greatly appreciated. Names of contributors will be printed in the publication. Checks can be mailed to Mrs. Frank Freeman, 147 Mystic street, treasurer.

Members are again calling for names and addresses of boys in the service. If anyone knows of an Arlington boy stationed in any part of the world, please send his mailing address to Mrs. Minnie Wood, 287 Massachusetts avenue; also changes of addresses of names already sent.

ARLINGTON WOMAN'S CLUB

Eskimo Woman to Speak

Anauta, the only Eskimo woman on the American platform, will make her initial appearance in the East next Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Town Hall. Born on the northern tip of Baffin Island, almost within sight of the North Pole, this woman, now an American citizen, gives us pictures of the life of these northern neighbors. She tells of the homes and families, of the hardships which they have to endure, and of the country where there are no contagious diseases, no law, no government and yet they live in peace. They tell us those who hear Anauta have an experience unique, amusing, educational and altogether fascinating. She is perfectly willing to answer questions from the audience. This is a rare opportunity to have one's horizons broadened and her interests enlarged.

Mrs. Leroy G. Shaw, chairman of the Art Committee, will have charge of the exhibit of Eskimo art and handicraft. Mrs. Stanley Kingman is chairman of the program committee.

Lecture on Youth Problems

The first of three lectures dealing with Youth Problems will be given in the Library Hall this afternoon at two o'clock. Please notice the change in date, due to the closing of the Library on Wednesday afternoons. "The Emotional Development of the Young Child" is the subject and Dr. Marion Putnam of the Judge Baker Foundation will be the speaker. Dr. Putnam's first hand experience should make her talk very valuable for parents, teachers and all interested in children.

This is the first in a series of lectures sponsored by the Education Committee, Mrs. J. Clarke Wyman, chairman. The lecture is free and the public is cordially invited.

Arlington Fortnightly to Hold Bridge and Whist

The executive committee of the Arlington Fortnightly Club is sponsoring a bridge and whist party to be held next Monday in American Legion Hall at two o'clock in the afternoon. The proceeds are to be used for the war work of the club.

ARLINGTON GRANGE

Arthur F. Thompson, worthy gate keeper of the Massachusetts State Grange, and his suite installed the following recently elected officers of Arlington Grange: master, Mrs. E. Belle Howland; overseer, Miss Marion Thurston; lecturer, Mrs. Mable McCoy; steward, Mrs. Joy Croshier; assistant steward, Mrs. Bessie Griffin; chaplain, Mrs. Martha Snell; treasurer, Mrs. Annette Woodman; secretary, Mrs. Dena Wolfer; gate keeper, Mrs. Catherine West; Ceres, Mrs. Elizabeth MacKay; Pomona, Mrs. Irene Haney; Flora, Miss Alberta Gumb; lady assistant steward, Mrs. Irene Bower; executive committee, Mrs. Elizabeth Withus.

On January 21st Arlington Grange held its first business meeting of the year with the worthy overseer, Marion Thurston, officiating, the worthy master not being able to be present because of being installed an officer of the Eastern Star on that night. A goodly crowd attended even though it was a bitter cold night. After the meeting Mr. Longeway, Past master of Lexington Grange, showed moving pictures which everybody more than enjoyed. Refreshments were served afterwards. The next meeting of Arlington Grange will be a neighbors night.

Town Topic

The victory dance held last Saturday night, by the Young People's Forum at the parish house of the Park Avenue Congregational church was a success. They will have a Valentine dance on February 14. Arrangements are in charge of Rosalind Flettje and Richard Battis, co-chairmen of the Youth Committee.

Evening Alliance Hears Reviews of Best Sellers

The January meeting of the Unitarian Evening Alliance was held Wednesday evening of last week in the parlors of the First Parish church. Miss Caroline Mazzocca entertained with three harp solos and Ruth Markle Fuller reviewed several of the current best sellers, books well suited for present day reading by thoughtful readers. Her selections included the "Biography of Thomas Jefferson" by Saul K. Padover; "The Song of Bernadette" by Franz Werfel; "The Robe" by Lloyd Douglas; "Time of Peace" by Ben Ames Williams; "The Brittle Glass" by Nora Lofts, and two books of verse, "Elbow Room" by Oliver St. John Gogarty, and "New and Selected Poems" by Robert H. Schaffer. Mrs. Fuller was most successful in making each book seem to be a "must", so vividly did she choose the points to pique the interest.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Folsom, Mrs. Robert Cook, Miss Rachael Damon, Miss Alice Preston, and Miss Beatrice Bennett.

Allied War Relief Committee Appeals

The Allied War Relief broadcasts an appeal for both material and workers.

Discarded silk or nylon stockings are needed to make parachutes. They may be brought to the Committee's headquarters at 5 Mystic street between one and four in the afternoon any day between Monday and Friday or to the Monday meeting in the vestry of the Orthodox Congregational church.

Grease also is needed and may be brought to the Monday meeting. Contributions of wool that can be made into dresses will be welcomed.

There is a great need of sewers to make garments for Russian relief. Mrs. Chandler and her helpers are busy cutting out the garments but they must be assembled and completed. Even a few hours of work will be greatly appreciated. Some of the most attractive dresses for children and misses have been and are being made. Visitors are invited to come and see them.

A wonderful woolen quilt has been made by Mrs. John Wheatley and Mrs. John Campbell. This has been sent to Russian Relief headquarters in Boston.

Blankets are much needed. The Metropolitan Aid Society of New York sent a letter to the Committee, through the chairman, Mrs. Russell Cone, thanking them for the water tight wallets received for seamen.

Mrs. Cone addressed the young women's organization of the Church of Our Saviour on Tuesday.

War Stamps and Bonds sold at the Monday meeting amounted to $400.50.

There will be a board meeting of the Committee at four o'clock Monday in the Orthodox church vestry.

Mrs. Guy Sanger secured the babies' blanket made by Miss Ann Fredericks.

The food sale next week will be in charge of St. John's Woman's Guild with Mrs. A. J. King and Mrs. A. C. Fitch in charge.

"HERE'S WHAT YOU DO"—Due in Hollywood for a movie career, Betty Phipps of Dallas, Tex., learns about cameras from Norris Harkness, noted lens authority and co-conductor of Popular Photography-Canadian National camera fan tours to Jasper National Park in the Canadian Rockies. Above, Harkness is showing the Dallas girl how to read a meter before "shooting" a picture.

KEEPING FIT in the great outdoors has assumed added importance this summer and pretty Dolores Lindgren, Minneapolis miss, is planning plenty of healthful picnic meals to do her bit. The insulite icebox conserves food, as it is made of the same material now being used extensively to insulate farm buildings and in remodeling attics and basements of homes to create more space.

CANARY IS MIRACLE WORKER—Dolores Del Rio declares a miracle happens to her when she hears a canary sing. And all Hollywood is "that way" about these feathered pets that are the newest hobby sensation with film stars.

A FIGHTER GOES FOR SOMETHING SWEET—and nothing tastes so good to a tired soldier as a cookie and a cup of coffee, according to the experience of 1350 Salvation Army lassies, such as this one with a dimpled cheek, who are now on duty in USO clubs, troop transfer centers, mobile canteens, and wherever a man in uniform may pause for a snack.

WHEW! TIME FOR A COKE—At least it appears that Rio declares a miracle happens to her when she hears a canary sing. And all Hollywood is "that way" about these feathered pets that are the newest hobby sensation with film stars.

GIVE YOUR NEIGHBOR A RIDE

Many now are walking or taking buses who formerly rode in autos, put up to save gas and rubber. But there are some who are still driving their cars, perhaps because they live far from bus lines and are engaged in war work.

They are driving the cars that in days of peace took the family to the country or shore on weekends and holidays. Now, used only for essential driving, they often have vacant seats. Sometimes these are filled as the driver goes along his way. He stops to pick up this plodding pedestrian and that shivering waiter at the bus stop. When he does this he is helping the war effort. When he drives past leaving the pedestrian and the bus waiter looking enviously after him, he is hindering that effort, and in more than one way.

We must protect the health and conserve the energies of all our citizens. Not only is their work important, it is also important that the time of doctors and nurses be conserved. A ride may save some one from being a victim of the common cold that costs us sixty million man hours each year.

Friendliness, too, is more important than it has ever been. We must be united. The car driver who picks up the people he sees along the way is fostering friendliness. He leaves behind him not frowning envy and suspicion—the suspicion that he should not be riding while "I" am walking—but smiling appreciation of his courtesy.

A writer to the Boston Herald suggests also that the friendly custom of offering rides might save more gas—"At the present time, many people still drive their cars from their homes to buses, street cars and trains. They are too far away from such means of transportation to walk (or at least they think they are). If such people could be reasonably sure that drivers of cars with empty seats would pick them up if they were walking, many would leave their cars at home and risk a trek to the station."

Give your neighbor a ride.

MISTAKEN LOYALTY

In view of the resignation of the Commandant of the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps, Col. Natalie Hayes Hammond, officers of the Arlington Unit have also resigned. They, as well as officers of other units, are exercising the "right to strike" which so many believe should be denied to labor in time of war.

They feel, apparently, that Col. Hammond was unfairly forced out; their resignation is an expression of their loyalty to her. Their action is proof that Col. Hammond has at least one of the qualities necessary to a leader, that of inspiring loyalty in her followers.

These resignations cannot, however, be considered as expressions of loyalty to the country and it is the country, not Col. Hammond, that the officers volunteered to serve.

The Defense Corps, we must assume, is important to the defense of this region, otherwise it would not have been originated. Likewise, the officers are essential to defense. If they were ever needed they are needed as much under a new leader as under Col. Hammond.

Even if we do not question their right to resign we must question whether it is right for them to resign. United action and united feeling are necessary to defense. Disagreements give aid and comfort to the enemy.

We have volunteers in the army—thousands of them. They cannot resign if an officer whom they revere is removed. They have a higher loyalty; they carry on united against the enemy.

House Warming.—Wednesday evening of this week a few intimate friends of Mr. George P. Winn, gathered at his new residence, corner of Summer and Mystic streets, and spent a few hours in a social manner. Short and jolly speeches and an excellent supper made the programme.

Fire.—On Saturday evening last, the barn of Jeremiah Russell was burned. It is not known how it caught fire, although occurring as it did simultaneously with the lightning which created so much surprise, there were some who attributed it to that cause.

Fifty Years Ago This Week

Rev. E. Winchester Donald, rector of Trinity Church, Boston, solemnized the marriage of Mr. Henry A. Dexter of Elmira, N. Y., and Miss Charlotte Lapham Gage, daughter of Mrs. Charles O. Gage of Cambridge, formerly of Arlington, at Trinity on Tuesday noon. Miss Gage is the second daughter of the late Chas. O. Gage, who died suddenly last winter, but who, during his life was one of the best known and most influential citizens of Arlington.

The Grand Army "Saturday Night," which occurred on the 21st instant, was the most successful in point of interest and attendance of any yet held. The entertainment consisted of piano solos and fine accompaniments by Mrs. Mabel (Rawson) Ross; solos which were heartily applauded and repeatedly encored by Mr. Warren W. Rawson; several recitations which "carried the house by storm" given by Prof. Alden and Mrs. Alden, both of Boston, guests of Capt. E. D. Bean; duets and solos by Mr. A. W. Turner and Comrade George H. Averill; cornet solo by Mr. Ivers Wetherbee.

The second in the subscription parties managed by Miss Homer and Miss Hoitt will occur a week from tonight in Town Hall. These select dancing assemblies are anticipated with pleasure by their patrons.

Twenty-Five Years Ago This Week

In recognition of the request of the Arlington Fuel Committee, three of the churches at the Center combined for a union service on last Sunday morning. The churches were the First Parish (Unitarian), the Universalist and the Orthodox Congregational church. The service was held in the latter church and an audience that nearly taxed its seating capacity was present.

The fifty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Parker was Sunday, January 20th. The day was observed quietly by entertaining at dinner, the only brother of Mr. Parker, Mr. Gordon Parker of Dorchester and wife.

Ernest H. Griffin of Hose 2, brought into Surgical Dressing Tuesday morning a knitted khaki sweater he had made. It was of an original pattern and finely done. The needles used were made by Mr. Griffin.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life." These words from Jude 1:21 comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, January 31, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be: "Love." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. . . . And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:7, 16).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The divine Science taught in the original language of the Bible came through inspiration, and needs inspiration to be understood. . . . A misplaced word changes the sense and misstates the Science of the Scriptures, as, for instance, to name Love as merely an attribute of God; but we can by special and proper capitalization speak of the love of Love, meaning by that what the beloved disciple meant in one of his epistles, when he said, 'God is love' (pp. 319, 320).

RED FEATHER DRIVE TWO DAYS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Club, Arlington Woman's Club, Theta Epsilon, Arlington Sons of Italy, and Arlington Post 1775, V. F. W.

Service Men Back Up Drive

Roscoe Elliott, active chairman of the drive, noted two contributions coming from men in the service. Mr. Elliott has felt that this drive must go over the top because such a goodly part of the funds are to be used for service men.

Certainly no better proof of the service man's viewpoint can be presented than the contributions coming from Lt. Ball and Cadet Norton Kidder. If the men in the service feel this way about the chest, we must not fail them, says Mr. Elliott.

"This drive is then definitely marked in spirit as the drive of the people back home," continues the chairman, "for the boys in the service everywhere. Certainly no one can resist the appeal of the Barbed Wire Legion. Yet we must not fail to realize that some of the clinics maintained at home through the Boston Fund are helping other boys to qualify physically and replace the men who are lost or injured in action. Thus the War Fund Chest is very aptly named.

"So let us give enough soon enough."

COMMITTEE MAKES PLANS TO SOLVE MEAT PROBLEM

tion solve it. Under the sponsorship of the Arlington Committee on Public Safety, three free demonstrations will be given during the week of February 8th, to make Arlington women better acquainted with the less-well-known cuts of meat and with the vital organs—brains, kidney, liver, etc.—which are so nutritious and of which there is a plentiful supply. These demonstrations will be given by Mrs. Hazel Cheever, home services director of the Arlington Gas Light Company, and it is hoped that one meeting can be held at the Heights, one at the Center, and one in East Arlington, so that transportation to and from the demonstrations will not be a problem. Posters giving the exact date and place of these meetings will be placed in the various meat markets of Arlington at the end of this week. There will also be more specific information on this subject in this paper next week.

Nursery Care for Children

Another important problem discussed at the meeting was that of providing nursery care for the small children of mothers who are working in defense plants. A group of volunteers interested in doing this type of work, will be given proper training, and when their training is complete, a careful survey will be made in the town to make certain that working mothers are informed of this invaluable service. Meanwhile, the Committee would be glad to be notified, through its chairman, Mrs. Hamlet, of any mother now needing this service and of any woman willing to give her time to provide it.

The general subject of home gardening and home and community canning was touched upon, and will be dealt with more thoroughly a little later in the season.

Under the supervision of one of the committee's vice-chairmen, Mrs. Francis Chamberlain, the block plan, wherein there will be a community worker for approximately every ten homes in the town, is nearing completion. At least half of the fourteen precincts in the town are now completely organized. Volunteers are still being sought for this important job, and anyone willing to give some time to this project should call either Mrs. Chamberlain or Mrs. Hamlet.

Mrs. Joseph Bevins, chairman of the Salvage Committee, reports that the tin can collection last week was highly successful, over 26 tons of cans having been collected. Mrs. Bevins also wishes to inform the women of Arlington that old silk and Nylon hosiery is being salvaged in the town, there being a bin for its collection at Grant's in the Center, and another at the Brackett School at the Heights.

In addition to Mrs. Hamlet, Mrs. Chamberlain and Mrs. Cheever, the members of the committee attending the Monday evening meeting were the following: Mrs. Albert Wunderly, Nutrition; Mrs. Americo Chaves, Social Service; Mrs. Wilson D. Clark, Jr., chairman of Civilian Defense for the Arlington Community Planning Council; Mrs. Miriam S. Black, nutritionist, Boston Metropolitan Red Cross Chapter; Mrs. Marian Soderquist, Canteen; Mrs. Leroy Shaw, member of the town committee on Gardening, Food Preservation and Nutrition Program; and Mrs. Ruberta B. Norris, vice chairman; and Mrs. W. Parker Wood, Publicity.

that might "happen" he feels there is nothing to worry about—the folks are going to be OK.

A picture, "Rescue Work in London" after an actual Air Raid proved most instructive and portrayed the exceptional volunteer work which is being done by the various divisions in the Civilian Defense organization.

The speaker was Albert Konz of Arlington, who returned from England three months ago. He told of his experiences as Chief Section Warden and of the endless hours of work done by all volunteers. They, too, were criticized and ridiculed in the preparatory days of their training, but "when the bombs started falling" people who criticized most were the first to seek information and advice as to their best means of protection. After his interesting talk, a short question and answer period followed. Among the questions was "What do you think of our Report Center in line with those you have seen?" He answered, "I saw your Report Center last Saturday—and to me it is most efficiently set up—has everything—in other words, it is tops."

Much interest was shown in the equipment displayed. This included helmets, various types of gas masks, and clubs.
